

DML Study Abroad Scholarship - 2014

Application deadline: due at same time as program application

Electronic Application submission: to your study abroad program director

Notification of awards: with nomination to program, if possible

Scholarships

Scholarships may be up to $500 for any Department of Modern Languages-sponsored faculty-led study abroad language program for 5 weeks or more. The award will be issued directly to the student by direct deposit or by check through the Office of Financial Aid during the term of the study abroad program.

Students who are applying for a study abroad program sponsored by the Department of Modern Languages anytime during the current academic year (including summer) must apply for the scholarship by the chosen program's deadline (unless otherwise notified).

A committee consisting of the program director and one other faculty member will determine the number and amount of awards within each program. This is a competitive award and not every applicant will be successful.

Eligibility

- Ohio University undergraduate or graduate students in good academic standing
- Minimum cumulative GPA of 3.2
- Students must be applying for a faculty-led study abroad program sponsored by the DML.

Enrollment requirements

- Students are required to be enrolled in at least the minimum credit hours required by the program.

The following factors will be considered in selecting a recipient:

- Demonstrated interest in chosen country (e.g. coursework, extracurricular activities, outreach)
- Merit (GPA, references provided in support of your program application, CV or résumé)
- A copy of your DARS report or a transcript from Ohio University submitted in support of your program application.
- Personal suitability (e.g. maturity, cultural sensitivity, responsibility)

Complete applications include:

- A completed application form
- An essay, in English, explaining your interest in the chosen country and its language, the education abroad program you have selected, and why you have chosen that program. If you have previously studied, worked or lived abroad, please provide a brief description of the experience or program(s). You should also explain how you plan to use the language in your future or future career. This essay must be double-spaced and two-to-three pages long.
- CV or résumé required

Submission guidelines:

- Paper or electronic applications must be turned in directly to the program director.
- Completed scholarship application form, your essay, CV or résumé
- If you submit your application electronically, the subject line of e-mail should read: DML Scholarship, Program Name
